OLEDO (O.) Jan. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "If Walter Wellman wants to go to the North Pole in an airship I'll furnish him the airship and aeronauts," said Charles J. Strobel, manager of A. Roy Knabenshue and Lincoln Beachey, the two young fellows whose work among the clouds in the year just closed has attracted general attention.

"I wrote Wellman Tuesday," continued Strobel, "and hope to hear from him."

"This business of going to France 'o have Dumont build a ship is all foolishness. Dumont has not done anything really startling. He has, as will discover by investigating, made most of his ascensions early in the morning, when there was no wind, or under circumstances that were favorable to the flights."

"Upon three occasions Dumont came to the United States. What did he do? He refused to face the air currents himself and could not be induced to fly while in New York. Knabenshue flew over New York City, a feat in WASHINGTON (Pa.) Jan. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Prayer and pugilism were inharmoniously mixed at a congregational meeting called in the First Baptist Church here, this afternoon, to take action on the relection of Rev. C. W. Fletcher to the pastorate. In the melee, Deacon Charles Kelley was floored by a stiff right to the jaw, sent in by Deacon Frank Chambers.

The congregation is the wealthiest in the city after a stormy session.

Rev. Fletcher was reflected pastor and it was voted to him a salary of $1 to $2. Changes of an ugly character had been made against persons who, it was declared, had been trying to undermine the pastor's reputation.

When the vote was announced, the malcontents raised an uproar. In the midst of it somebody began to pray, and while the petition was being offered up, there was a brief truce. Then Deacon Kelley, in a voice choking with rage, began in a loud voice to hurl back the accusation that any one had been "knocking" the pastor. The wife of Deacon Chambers, who was standing near Kelley, began to remonstrate with him.

"You shut up," yelled the enraged pillar of the church, turning toward the woman.

The words were scarcely out of his mouth when a smashing blow on the jaw from Deacon Chambers' fist put him down on the floor.

In an instant there was a panic. The female members made a bee-line for the door, screaming, while some of the brethren seized and held Deacon Chambers, who was just figuring where he could plant his right again.

But it was not necessary. Deacon Kelley was down and out, and in lieu of the count, somebody started another prayer, after which the congregation moved out in silence, leaving the pastor to heap coals of fire by bringing Deacon Kelley to the North Pole if he wants to do business with us.

"I'd like to pull off this thing, if for no other reason than that this scheme is due to American brains, and I'd like to prove that American ingenuity and American nerve can carry the flight to the Pole to a more successful termination than Dumont can possibly expect."

BALTIMORE (Md.) Jan. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. William Osler and the head of the Johns Hopkins University and Hospital deny that the famous physician is to resign from Oxford University.

Houghton, Mifflin & Co., of Boston, who are the publishers of Dr. Osler's books, recently issued the following in their literary notes: "Dr. William Osler, the eminent medical authority, has resigned the Regius professorship of medicine in Oxford University, England, and will return to Johns Hopkins University about the middle of January."

Dr. Osler and his wife, who is a great-granddaughter of Paul Revere, spent Christmas in Boston. When this appeared in a Baltimore newspaper, its editor wired to Dr. Osler for a confirmation or denial, and got a denial from the doctor. The physician made a denial of the statement of coming to Baltimore.

President Ira Remsen of Johns Hopkins University and Superintendent Henry M. Murd of Johns Hopkins Hospital also deny that the physician is to return to Baltimore.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Pray for my beloved son, who has been threatened by the enemy with absolute isolation, that he may be spared this trial for a number of years to come and that he may rapidly develop and grow into splendid Christian manhood. This is his desire and may God give him power."

This message from Dowie has aroused considerable anxiety among followers of the "First Apostle." It comes practically as the first admission that both Dr. Dowie and his wife are in critical danger and that even the possibility of death of one or both is not to be regarded as an impossibility.

Beyond the fact that never before have the finances of Zion tortured so pitifully, nothing definitely is known of the business status of the Dowie administration. It is reported in Waukegan and neighboring towns that the lace factory will not be reopened and that the candy factory has passed into the hands of another management.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "The jewels recovered."

It was reported at the Angelus Hotel last night that the diamonds and other property of Mrs. C. Thom valued at nearly $1000 which had been mysteriously lost for several weeks, had been recovered. It was not suspected that the jewels were stolen and the thief was not reported to the police. Where they were found was not announced but guests at the hotel were authority for the report that they had been found. The Thom family was not at the hotel last night, having gone to the home of friends to spend the night.

PARIS, Jan. 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] War rumors that have been circulating in Europe of late call forth the following editorial in the Herald's European edition, under the heading, "Peace Assured."

"It is a significant indication of Germany's pacific disposition respecting France that the 'White Book' just issued opens with an extract from the Temps. Germany could not have displayed greater discrimination than in this selection of our conservative contemporary as a sort of semi-official organ, worthy of being accepted as a representative of the French and as the interpreter of French public opinion."

"Thus the Cassandras who have been predicting war so industriously during the last six months might have utilized their energy to better purpose. It is impossible to believe that a Franco-German war was ever seriously contemplated on one side or the other. The German Emperor is certainly not sufficiently hairbrained to stake the material prosperity of his country against a strip of territories in Northwest Africa."

on a steam yacht. Pierce is chairman of the board of directors of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company of Missouri and father of the president of that company. The subpoena server said that he had pursued Pierce through a suite of rooms in the hotel occupied by Pierce, but that the oil man had locked himself in his chambers. The server then desisted.

John D. Archbold, vice-president and director of the Standard Oil Company, and William G. Rockefeller, nephew of John D. Rockefeller, were present at the hearing today. They have been subpoenaed as witnesses, but were not called to testify today.

Rogers was the first witness at today's session of the hearing in connection with the Missouri suit against the alleged oil trust. The interrogation of Rogers was taken up today at the point where it was interrupted yesterday.

"I don't know,"

"since its organization?"

I do not think it worth while to answer that question," said Rogers.

"You will permit me to be the Judge of that," responded the Attorney General.

Hadley then asked Rogers if he was connected with the Standard Oil Company of Indiana when it succeeded to the business of the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky.

"I decline to answer."

"Did you, by yourself or others, as trustee, own or hold any stock in the Waters-Pierce Oil Company of Missouri?"

"I decline to answer on advice of counsel," replied Rogers.

Rogers' attorney objected, and the witness did not answer.

"Is it not a fact that you and eight other persons in the Standard Oil trust held 120,000 shares of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, June 20, 1904, as now appears in the records of the Secretary of State of Missouri?"

Objected to by Hagerman because it relates to a period prior to the organization of the three oil companies which are defendants in the case.

"I decline to answer," said Rogers.

"How long a time has the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, either through itself or some other person, held or controlled a majority of the stock of the Waters-Pierce Company?"

"I decline to answer."

"That is, you decline to tell for how long a time?" asked Hadley.

"I decline to answer on advice of counsel," responded Rogers.

"For how long has the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey controlled a majority of the stock of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana?"

"I decline to answer."

Hadley asked the same question as applied to the Republic Oil Company, and again Rogers declined to answer.

"It is not a fact that a majority of the stock in each of these corporations has been transferred, or is owned or controlled by the same person or persons, and by persons I mean corporations?"

Hagerman objected, and Rogers asked what companies Hadley meant. Hadley said he meant the defendants in this case. Rogers declined to answer.

This ended the direct examination, and Hadley asked that all the questions to which Rogers had declined to answer be certified to the Supreme Court. Hadley said he might want to call Rogers later, and he was excused. Rogers, however, returned to the stand and said:

"On Saturday afternoon, I was asked, 'Do you know Walter C. Teagle?' I was told then now that the man I supposed was meant was John Teagle, whom I know."

Hadley brought from Rogers that John Teagle was a member of Scofield, Schurman & Teagle, and is in the oil business.

"Did you find out that Walter C. Teagle is a member of the foreign commission of the Standard Oil Company?"

Rogers started to answer, but the objection of his counsel stopped him.

"Is it not funny that you do not know?"

Rogers made an answer so low as to be unheard.

"I want you to treat this matter with the seriousness which your position warrants," said Hadley.

In reply to questions, Rogers said:

"I understand Walter C. Teagle is connected with some foreign business. I have met him at 26 Broadway and elsewhere." He declined to say whether he saw him about the oil business.

Rogers knew several other oil people vaguely, too vaguely to enlighten the commissioner. To all questions tending to show a connection between Standard Oil Company and "dummy" companies his answer was "I decline to answer."

Occasionally he varied this formula by declining "no advice of counsel."

"Do you know C. M. Adams, secretary of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company?" asked Hadley.

"I have heard of him."

"Did he go to St. Louis in 1882 in connection with an oil company in which you were interested and of which you were a member?"

"I decline to answer."

Rogers was then excused, and as he passed Hadley he said: "Good-bye," to which Hadley responded.

Eugene Carney was the next witness. He said he was a police officer at No. 26 Broadway "to look after peddlers and beggars." Carney said he had no counsel, but William W. Rowe sat beside him, and they conferred. Hadley said he would object to any interruptions by counsel. In a moment of two, Carney was advised by Rowe and declined to answer on advice of counsel. He said, after hesitating that his principal business is to start the elevators at one of the entrances to No. 26 Broadway.

Still acting under Rowe's advice, Carney proceeded to give a modified imitation of Rogers. He knew James Moffett and C. L. Nichols and possibly J. D. Carroll, but with the exception of Nichols he could not state that they had offices at No. 26 Broadway. Nichols had, he admitted.

"Do you remember in August, 1904, that you said to a person that you knew all the men, and that they had been employed in that building for some time?"

"Who employed your counsel, the Standard Oil Company?"

"I decline to answer."

Witness at first refused to say how long he was employed at No. 26 Broadway, but then did so. He refused to say who employed him.

"Ask the witness if he has been told to answer questions," said Commissioner Sanborn. "This looks like preconceived action."

Hadley asked a long string of questions which the witness declined to answer.

At a meeting of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey today, the retiring directors were reelected.

"I decline to answer."

"Did you, by yourself or others, as trustee, own or hold any stock in the Waters-Pierce Oil Company of Missouri?"

"I decline to answer on advice of counsel," replied Rogers.

"For how long has the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey controlled a majority of the stock of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana?"

"I decline to answer."

"That is, you decline to tell for how long a time?" asked Hadley.

"I decline to answer on advice of counsel," responded Rogers.

"For how long has the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey controlled a majority of the stock of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana?"

"I decline to answer."

Hadley asked the same question as applied to the Republic Oil Company, and again Rogers declined to answer.

"It is not a fact that a majority of the stock in each of these corporations has been transferred, or is owned or controlled by the same person or persons, and by persons I mean corporations?"

Hagerman objected, and Rogers asked what companies Hadley meant. Hadley said he meant the defendants in this case. Rogers declined to answer.

This ended the direct examination, and Hadley asked that all the questions to which Rogers had declined to answer be certified to the Supreme Court. Hadley said he might want to call Rogers later, and he was excused. Rogers, however, returned to the stand and said:

"On Saturday afternoon, I was asked, 'Do you know Walter C. Teagle?' I was told then now that the man I supposed was meant was John Teagle, whom I know."

Hadley brought from Rogers that John Teagle was a member of Scofield, Schurman & Teagle, and is in the oil business.

"Did you find out that Walter C. Teagle is a member of the foreign commission of the Standard Oil Company?"

Rogers started to answer, but the objection of his counsel stopped him.

"Is it not funny that you do not know?"

Rogers made an answer so low as to be unheard.

"I want you to treat this matter with the seriousness which your position warrants," said Hadley.

In reply to questions, Rogers said:

"I understand Walter C. Teagle is connected with some foreign business. I have met him at 26 Broadway and elsewhere." He declined to say whether he saw him about the oil business.

Rogers knew several other oil people vaguely, too vaguely to enlighten the commissioner. To all questions tending to show a connection between Standard Oil Company and "dummy" companies his answer was "I decline to answer."

Occasionally he varied this formula by declining "no advice of counsel."

"Do you know C. M. Adams, secretary of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company?" asked Hadley.

"I have heard of him."

"Did he go to St. Louis in 1882 in connection with an oil company in which you were interested and of which you were a member?"

"I decline to answer."

INSURGENTS
STANDING PAT.Enough of Them to Defeat
Joint Statehood.Speaker Cannon Wins Only
Few of Them Over.Opponents of Philippine Bill Losing Ground.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS--P.M.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The Republican "insurgents" held a Statehood caucus today which was attended by about twenty-five Representatives. A poll of the House on the joint Statehood proposition was reported at the caucus to have shown slightly less than 75 Representatives who will vote against a proposed rule preventing the amendment of the Hamilton joint Statehood bill. The "insurgents" are confident they will retain enough of these votes to make it possible for them, with the Democrats, to defeat the proposed rule. The caucus was held in the committee room of Representative Babcock of Wisconsin. Sugar beet interests of the Middle West were well represented in the caucus.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Speaker Cannon's efforts to win the "insurgents" over to the Hamilton joint Statehood bill have met with little success apparently, and the joint Statehood proposition is still shrouded in uncertainty. The "insurgents" claim more than 50 per cent of the number which couped with a solid Democratic vote will force a consideration of amendments to the Hamilton bill. Two or three Republicans are reported to have been won over to the administration measure, through Speaker Cannon, but the weakening in the opposition is so slight that until further changes are brought about the Hamilton bill will not be voted on before the House.

All sorts of compromises have been suggested by the "insurgents," but have met with no favor at the hands of the supporters of joint Statehood. The latest compromise offered was to have the single word "each" where it would provide that the people of New Mexico and Arizona should decide by popular vote whether they would accept joint Statehood.

PHILIPPINE TARIFF BILL.
OPPOSE LOSING GROUND.
BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Republican opponents of the Philippine tariff bill are losing ground, and it is estimated tonight that they will have difficulty in securing amendments to the bill by the committee of the House to which it was referred.

The latest compromise offered was to have the single word "each" where it would provide that the people of New Mexico and Arizona should decide by popular vote whether they would accept joint Statehood.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.
DEBATE ON TARIFF MEASURE.
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS--P.M.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The Philippine tariff measure was the single topic of discussion in the House today. The speeches were uniformly against the measure and were allowed to go, in general, without answer. Discussion in the form of tariff revision discussion was made in a brief speech by Mr. Gillett of Massachusetts, who favored Canadian reciprocity. Mr. Burgess of Texas opposed the bill on constitutional grounds, and had a brief colloquy with the minority leader, Mr. Williams, on this point. He charged that Democrats, to be consistent, should oppose "---thing but free trade with the Philippines, on the ground that it is not in the public interest."

Mr. Williams defended the minority position, by saying he was supporting this bill because it was as near free trade as it was possible to obtain from the majority. The issue was drawn sharply between the two members of the minority and further in the interests of the majority of the day. Mr. Coughlin of Pennsylvania spoke in opposition, in behalf of the tobacco raisers of his district, and Mr. Henry of Connecticut took the same position. Mr. Goulder of New York, who had deferred for the day with brief reference to the merits of taking the protection of the Dingley rates from the "giant trusts" of the country.

Mr. Bonney of Colorado opposed a bill in the interest of the beet-sugar industry.

Mr. Burgess of Texas followed: "I want to see the Philippines treated as a foreign territory," he said. "I want to see the time approach rapidly when we can cut loose from that pestiferous government over there."

Mr. Williams, the minority leader, interjected: "I take it the gentlemen will agree with me, that whatever the Philippines ought to be, they are at present colonies of the United States."

"I did not create existing conditions, and I will not recognize them," replied Mr. Burgess.

A colloquy ensued between the minority leader and Mr. Burgess, in which Mr. Williams was put on the defense of his position on the bill. Mr. Burgess wanted to know if Mr. Williams believed the Constitution extended to the Philippines.

Mr. Williams recognized that the Supreme Court extended it there.

"Then, Mr. Williams, Mr. Burgess voted for this bill which levied duties against a part of the United States?" inquired Mr. Burgess.

Mr. Williams explained that the minority institute for the bill voted for free trade. Knowing that it was impossible to get that, he should vote for the Republican reduction.

Mr. Burgess regarded any tariff between the United States and the Philippines as unconstitutional, and said he should vote against the bill. He suggested that if the Democrats would join forces with the Republican opposition, the bill would be defeated.

This was preface in grand larceny, according to Mr. Williams, because to defeat the bill would be to leave the present higher schedule in force.

Mr. Clark of Missouri appealed to the Republicans to join the Democrats and

SENATE WILL LIFT LID OFF THE CANAL.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The Senate today adopted two resolutions of inquiry. One of them authorizes an investigation by the Committee on Interstate Canals into the conduct of the affairs of the Panama Canal, and the other inquiry by the Finance Committee into the question of the exchange rate on money on the isthmus. The first resolution was reported from the Canal Committee by its chairman, Mr. Millard, and the second is the resolution presented yesterday by Mr. Bailey with the provision relative to the Panama Canal.

Mr. Simmons presented a resolution asking the President to send to the Senate the names of all the officers, agents and other employees of the Panama Canal Commission whose salaries are more than $3000, giving the amount paid to each.

That all matters relating to the Panama Canal and the government of the canal zone and the management of the Panama Railroad shall be investigated by the Senate. The Canal and Inter-oceanic Canals, was decided today at the first meeting of the committee.

The investigation will begin on Tuesday next, although there may be a special meeting in the interim to take up the nominations of Canal Commissioners.

When the committee was called to order there were present Senators Millard, chairman; Kittredge, Hopkins, Knox, Morgan, Talaferro and Gorman. The nominations of commissioners were taken up, but on the subject of the amount of salaries and the fact that it had been intimated that it might be desired to have hearings in regard to one or more of them, they were laid over for the present.

The formation of a programme in regard to canal affairs was then considered. All members of the committee pass a measure "to turn the islands loose—cut loose from them forever."

Mr. Burgess had read a resolution for the establishment of a free government in the Philippines, which he advanced.

Turning his attention to the "expansion of the office of the Executive," Mr. Burgess said the Constitution made the President the chief executive.

CACKLE, COO

Noisy Chorus Makes Opening of Poultry Show.

The Crowd and Entry List the Biggest Ever Known.

Crowing Hen and Quadruped Duck in Limelight.

Sixteen hundred entries were made for the first poultry show which opened in the city yesterday afternoon. Up to 9 o'clock last night the opening day showed 1400 visitors, the most successful first day of any similar exhibit ever given in Southern California. Chickens and turkeys and ducks, were a splendid financial success, as well as an exhibition of which its promoters may well be proud.

The exhibit honors awarded yesterday by the judges, consist of first, second, third, fourth and fifth ribbons. There are numerous special premiums. SOME FINE TROPHIES.

A group of these special premiums which attracted much attention yesterday were the four beautiful trophy cups offered by the Poultry Breeders' Association. They are for the best cock, coo-koo, hen and pullet of any breed shown by any one exhibitor; for the best single specimen exhibited; for the best exhibition pen in the show; and for the best display of high-class fancy pigeons.

There were many interesting reunions of poultry raisers from all parts of California underneath the big spread of canvas, but probably the most interesting of them was the meeting of some of the originators of the first poultry show ever held south of the Tehachapi.

There were eighteen years ago, and the promoter was E. C. Chapman of Pasadena, who has a stand at the present show, representing his poultry supply establishment. There he was met by John D. Morcer of this city, who was one of the six men who carried through this pioneer effort at sens, there are numerous new strains which attract much attention. One of these is a pen of rose-comb black turkeys, the first of the kind in the entire West. They are the property of C. F. Bailey of No. 1810 West Twenty-first street, and their full, brilliant red comb from crows on the glossy black birds that truly resemble a deep-red rose.

"Gov. Francis," a prize-winner at the St. Louis Exposition—a magnificent specimen of the Buff Wyandottes—is one of the proudest crowns in the show. It is the property of M. E. Dillingham of San Gabriel.

SOME FREAKY SORTS.

Then there are the freaks—while not particularly useful, they are always crowd-pullers. There is a four-legged duck which steps all over itself when it walks; there is a hen covered with hair instead of feathers—an Orpington with the property of Dr. C. L. Dillinger, and there is the "crowing hen" which calls to its mates in a loud and strident voice, a perfect adaptation of the call of the king of the poultry yards which has taken on crowing instead of cackling, although the last eggs and act like a perfect lady hen.

The judges had a busy time, yesterday, and did not complete their work until late in the evening. The judges on poultry are S. M. Butler, C. L.

Some of the feathered aristocracy seen under the show tents.

Geese and guinea fowls, pigeons and doves—owls of high degree and proud plume—many birds of many kinds—as the old nursery rhyme used to say—all raised their voices to crow or cackle or coo a first welcome in the open air.

It was a poultry-yard chorus the volume of which has never before been equalled in this city.

The show is a success—that was the decision of the great crowd of visitors on the first day of the exhibition, and the quality of the exhibits receives much comment.

INCUBATOR MAMMAS.

One of the most interesting sections of the exhibition is that which shows the workings of the various incubators. There is always a crowd in these aisles. Here the Petaluma Incubator Company has an exhibit of duck eggs just being hatched; another section shows the various processes of hatching and later under the care of a brooder. Today incubator-hatched chicks will be added to the feathered aristocracy.

If yesterday's attendance is to be taken as a criterion of the daily attendance for the week, the affair will

DESERT TOWN'S STEADY GROWTH.

LAS VEGAS RAPIDLY PUTTING ON METROPOLITAN AIRS.

Streets and houses now lighted with electricity—work on the new railroad to Tonopah being rushed with all possible speed and track laying begun—Postoffice moved.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES)

LAS VEGAS (Nev.) Jan. 8.—The present week will witness the re-lighting to the dump of the oil lamp and tallow candle, so far as this immediate section of the great Southern Nevada desert is concerned, for the southwestern Light and Telephone Company will turn on the first of the 200 incandescent lights, varying from sixteen to thirty-two candle power. The capacity of the plant is practically unlimited for the needs of the community for at least a decade. With its oiled streets and electric lights, Las Vegas, although a town still in its swaddling clothes, being but seven months old, is a very healthy and thriving infant.

RUSHING NEW RAILROAD.

The fondest hopes of the pioneers of Las Vegas that the city would eventually become not only the county seat of Lincoln, but also the metropolis of Southern Nevada, are soon to be realized if the vim and vigor with which work is progressing on the new railroad to Tonopah Railroad is any criterion. The graders are already out twenty-five miles from the Las Vegas end, and the track laying has been begun in earnest. Dr. B. B. B. and the contractors have established a number of camps along the right of way, with 200 men and 125 teams hard at work upon the grade. A hospital station has been equipped at Buol, in charge of Dr. Roy Martin of Las Vegas.

MAGIC CITY NOTES.

The social life at Las Vegas is progressing to such an extent that last Friday night witnessed the inception of a whist club, the initial meeting of which was held in the dining-room of the Las Vegas Hotel. Dr. H. A. McDonald, the host, had secured a lot of handsome prizes, which were contested.

Postmaster W. R. Bracken threw open the doors of his new home in the First Street Bank building Saturday morning, and there was a general rush for keys for the 200 lock boxes. The removal of the postoffice from its original home was another step forward in the material growth of Las Vegas.

Up to the present time a series of the Fraternal Order of Eagles is the most interesting social organization in the city. The Fraternal Order of Eagles is the first annual show of the Los Angeles County Poultry Association.

The show tent is to be held in the northwest corner of Sixth and Hill streets, inside the tent there is a labyrinth of aisles formed by the exhibition cages, and the visitors are invited to walk in order to see all the interesting sights offered in the feathered display.

If yesterday's attendance is to be taken as a criterion of the daily attendance for the week, the affair will be a splendid financial success, as well as an exhibition of which its promoters may well be proud.

The report of the officers shows the condition of the bank at this date as follows: Deposits $1,151,946, gain for the year, $72,462, loss, $77,374, gain for the year, $23,756; surplus and undivided profits $17,600, gain for the year $1,725.

The bank paid its first semi-annual dividend on January 1. At the rate of 6 per cent. per annum.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

"BEGGING YOUR KIND ATTENTION."

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Buys Home.

T. J. Waggoner reports the sale of a house and lot, No. 1482 West Twenty-first street, W. Knapp to Mrs. Walker, $2500.

Mail Going Out.

The heavy mail of jam at the post-office was entirely obliterated, and according to Postmaster Flint, the worst of it was entirely cleared away yesterday afternoon.

Edendale Burglary.

The home of Mrs. Caroline Zirngibl, No. 2225 B street, Edendale, was entered by burglar last night. A gold watch and a quantity of valuable trinkets were taken.

Acreage by Railways.

Althous Bros. have bought on their account from L. H. Mitchell a tract of twenty acres on the southwest corner of Western avenue and Fourth street for $60,000. It will be cut into lots and put on the market as a high class residence subdivision.

Injured by Railways.

Mrs. Sallie Clegg, a chambermaid of No. 285 Thorpe street was painfully injured by being thrown from her carriage. She had taken dinner with her daughter, Mrs. A. C. Cadwalader, and went for a drive later. The horse became frightened and ran into a fence, throwing the woman to the ground. She sustained severe abrasions of the right side of her body.

To Build Arizona Hotel.

Leonardi, who is constructing several reinforced concrete buildings in this city, has secured the contract for the proposed Ash Works Arts Hotel, which is being erected by the Santa Fe railroad company. The structure will be reinforced concrete throughout. While only two stories high, it will have a frontage of 400 feet, and will be a fit companion for the hotels at Las Vegas and Albuquerque. Mr. Leonardi's bid was approximately $100,000.

More for the Patriotic.

Residents of Cologrove and the surrounding districts held a mass meeting at the Calumet schoolhouse last night to consider what step should be taken with the view to having their territory annexed to the city of Los Angeles. Delegates from all the towns and cities were unanimous in their desire to come into the city, and associations have been organized and committees appointed to forward the movement. The territory which would be added to the city if plans do not miscarry, comprises Cologrove, Prospect Park, Dayton Heights and Griffith Park, in all about ten square miles. A movement was started two years ago to bring this territory into the city of Los Angeles, but failed owing to the scarcity of water at that time.

HOT STUFF FOR BOSS.

Local Tammanyites feed Spanish dinner to Bourke Cockran, and He Makes a Speech.

Capt. George Micus, aka made good. He swore he would require the great Bourke Cockran to accept a reception at the paws of the local Tammany, and, in the dead language of the Iroquois Club, "he done it."

A Tammany committee, composed of the Tammany Capital Club, Judge D. K. Tracy, Anthony Schwann, Isidor H. Dockweiler, Frank G. Finlayson, Nathan Cole, Jr., A. C. Harper, and A. S. Peterson, swooped down upon the subdued corridors of Hotel Green, Pasadena, at 10 o'clock last evening and literally bore the Irish Congressman away. Phadrug O'Boyle, his faithful valet, protesting.

They brought him in a street car to Los Angeles, the chairman of the committee being scared of automobiles and traveled by truck. They found a Spanish-dinner cottage on South Grand avenue, where pepper tortillas did for the palate what red-tissue paper shaded eight-candle-power incandescents performed for the general effect. Ong-sung, the Chinese waiter, called him.

Mr. Cockran graciously condescended to a terribly haughty man, you know—to say some things, intelligibly as he could for the red pepper that had been spilled around about sharkskins, birdskins, nightgowns, and other tigerseys that he had eaten in foreign lands. Pro-longed applause.

A couple of hacks in due time returned the diners to Tammany Hall, which consists of three small rooms on the half story above the lobby of the Stovall Building. There fifty prominent Democrats—an elastic and most indefinite description, 'tis true; names were printed in The Times of yesterday—met and greeted Mr. Cockran.

Flinging his cloak of irreproachable derring over a stairway railing, he mounted with aid a rude bench in the little outer hall, and, the clamsens being gathered reverently 'round, he made them a devilish fine speech that passed the试驗 of his knees while he talked. A sketch artist labored to entangle and embalm one or more of the facial disengagements of the great Democrat, but became confused by the red pepper of Capt. Micus' unctuous face, where he leaned against a door-jamb at the orator's feet, and had to give it up.

"Those chill peppers, enchiladas and concarne that I ate tonight," said Cockran, "gave me a most unusual warmth of sentiment that pervaded my being when I looked upon the vigorous cartoon of myself which The Times published a few days ago."

He departs tonight for Washington to resume the making of opposition mincemeat on the floor.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Dist.-Atty. Fredericks and Health Officer Powers yesterday made a personal visit to the Lankershim ranch to find whether cattle are pasturing in the river bed; enough evidence is said to have been secured to form a basis for complaint against lessees for polluting the city's water supply.

Recommendation was yesterday made to the Council by the Police Board that an ordinance be passed limiting the number of billiard halls to 125.

The Finance Committee yesterday warned the Police Board that the department must not only keep within its appropriation for the remainder of the fiscal year, but must make up the $15,000 deficit in the police department fund.

Mrs. Minnie Lindgren was divorced yesterday by her husband, for desertion, the wife giving her reason for abandoning him as an ardent love for fresh air—for which he had a distaste.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday named February 7 as the date for the incorporation election at Glendale.

In the Police Court yesterday the first complaints were filed against maintainers of useless oil derricks, under the new ordinance calling for their demolition.

Search warrants were issued yesterday by Justice Rose for two theater managers, who failed to appear according to previous arrangement.

District Attorney and Health Officer Make Personal Inspection of Conditions on the Lankershim Ranch. Find Cattle Corralled on the Stream's Banks—State Law Violated.

Armed with the added authority of the new State law, Dist.-Atty. Fredericks and Health Officer Powers yesterday made a trip of personal inspection along the banks of the Los Angeles River north of Glendale.

"Conditions are no worse than they have been for years past," said Dr. Powers on their return, "but with the additional power conferred on the county authorities by the last Legislature we hope to make those conditions a great deal better."

The District Attorney secured sufficient evidence at the Lankershim ranch on which to base a complaint of pollution of the city's water supply. Cattle and horses were found standing in the stream and the tracks along the banks prove that the river is the watering place of several herds.

Under the new state law the county authorities could not secure convictions when the river was used only as a watering place. It was necessary to show continuous pollution. But this is changed by the latest statute, the county now has the power to prevent the conversion of the river into a water trough.

During the summer season, the conditions are still worse, than they are the worst. Then the stream for miles is dotted with cattle and horses, cooling themselves by the hour in the stream. This water is turned into the city's domestic supply.

The continued dry weather of this fall and winter has dried up the spring in the valley and the cattle on about all the ranges along the river have been driven to the stream.

It is not alone on the Lankershim ranch that the pollution of the water supply is going on. On many of the ranches raising the cattle run along the banks of the river.

Evidence secured on yesterday's trip will probably be used as the basis for the first suit in Los Angeles county under the new State law. Commissioners hope to have a decision favorable to the city before the opening of the summer season.

During the winter, that he has been Health Officer, Dr. Powers has maintained a warfare against the pollution of the source of the city's water supply. The offense in the present instance is committed outside the city, and the prosecution must be made by the county health authorities.

MUST RETRENCH.

POLICE BOARD WARNED. At an executive conference between the two bodies, the Finance Committee of the Council yesterday morning warned the Police Commission that the department must not exceed its appropriations for the year.

This came as a surprise to the police commissioners, who had expected to receive the amnesty extended to the fire and street departments. To each of these departments the Council agreed to wipe off the state and commence anew with the first of the year.

The present deficit in the police fund is more than $17,000. By the first of July the department must have live within its appropriated appropriation for the fiscal year, but must make up that $17,000 shortage. This means that the department has $35,000 less to spend during the last half of the year than was expended during the first half.

Some of the commissioners expressed a doubt as to whether the department can stand so great a cut in monthly expenses, but the closing of police stations and reducing the police force. The Finance Committee gave the Police Board a week's time in which to make a careful investigation and the expense of the department, with a view to a radical reduction in the cost of operation. The two bodies will meet again in joint conference next Tuesday morning.

WATCHMAN CONVIVIAL.

CIVIL SERVICE WRATHY. Terry McConnell, watchman by virtue of the Civil Service at Eastlake Park, was before the commission yesterday afternoon on charges of intoxication and neglect of duty. A. W. St. Clair and other residents of the East Side testified that McConnell recently appeared intoxicated at the park in the evening, made such an unkind of him self that the visitors at the park fled together and chased him off the premises.

Mrs. Adler's letter is somewhat incoherent through her unfamiliarity with the English language, and it is quite evident that she desires she asks Judge Trask what can be done, saying she had no notice of the divorce proceedings.

SYMPATHY LACKING.

MASON BLAMES HIS WIFE. At Mason was brought to trial before Judge Smith and a jury yesterday, on the charge of having stolen a purse containing $140 from a lodging-house on South Spring street.

The purse belonged to Mrs. Sarah A. Young, who had come to the city from Canada and had put the money under her mattress. Lena Broches, or Mrs. Adler, was engaged in the lodgings when she awoke in the morning it was still there, but after returning from her breakfast it had disappeared.

Mrs. Baker on South Los Angeles street, who had the purse containing $140 which had been taken by her husband, was helping her in her work. The day of the robbery, however, he disappeared, but called upon Mrs. Baker on South Los Angeles street, who had the purse containing $140 which had been taken by her husband, was helping her in her work.

Only the prosecution was heard yesterday. McConnell will make his defense.

BILLIARD HALL LIMIT.

POLICE BOARD TO COUNCIL. Acting on a recommendation from Chief Auble the Police Commission yesterday recommended to the Council the passage of an ordinance limiting the number of pool and billiard halls that may be in operation at one time to 125.

A week ago Chief Auble was of the opinion that 200 would be about the right limit. He estimates the number now in operation at 130. Inquiry in the City Clerk's office revealed the fact that he, 112 billiard and pool licensees are in force at the present time. The Chief accordingly reduced his limit to 125.

very frequently: Why is it that stomach trouble is so difficult to cure?Our answer is, that only medicine can ever give that only relieve the symptoms of stomach trouble, like pep-sin and its different compounds, or some other similar medicine. These aid digestion or neutralize an acid condition, but only at the time when taken.
What is necessary is to find out what causes the trouble. We have seen sometimes take pounds and pounds of such medicine, and their stomach would gradually get worse.

is curing hundreds of old cases, supposed to be incurable, cases of 10 to 30 years standing.

I derived the greatest possible benefit from the use of it, I think, in February last, and have been taking it ever since. It should have to give up trying to get well, but obtained almost immediate relief.

You certainly have my everlasting gratitude for the discovery, which has surely relieved me of the greatest suffering

I was ever compelled to endure. Regarding the price, I can assure you it is reasonable.

Nau's Dyspepsia Cure, a chronic dyspeptic found equally, or nearly as good results as I did, and, moreover, whose difference in price, I am sure, obtained immediate and lasting relief.

Hart Takes Burns.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Any differences that have existed among the various baseball leagues which comprise the National Association of Professional Clubs were amicably settled at the annual meeting here, of the controlling organization.

Delegates from 18 associations out of a total of 20 which make up the parent organization were represented at the meeting, and there was much rivalry in naming of a new executive.

No evidence of a split in the ranks which, it was said, of a certain faction threatened to break away.

Ed Ball, president of the Western Association, which was headed by him, and Griffiths, who, it was decided, would be re-elected to the meeting, would settle all questions of dispute.

Delegates from the various associations up in the various associations, President, P. T. Powell, of the National Association, and Secretary, J. H. Farrell, of the Pacific Coast Leagues, were re-elected.

HART TAKES BURNS.

CLINCH AT LOS ANGELES.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES, BUT DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES, NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—[EXCLUSIVE] Jim Curly, acting for Marvin Hart, tonight announced that a match between Hart and Burns for the middleweight championship was practically at an end, as the result of Ryan's insistence on 165 pounds, which Burns rates as the limit of his capacity.

The Montana Athletic Club today forwarded a set of articles to George Gardner at Lowell, Mass., for a twenty-round "go" between himself and Hart Burns.

Hart, Ryan and Curly will leave Butte Tuesday for Los Angeles.

TOUGHEST SPOT
IN ANY CITY.EAST FIRST STREET THROUGH
EYES OF DR. WALDEN.Professional Man, After Extensive Sociological Study in Los Angeles, Makes Some Biting Comments on Things He Found, Not Even Spared
Churches and Church-goers.

"I have been in all parts of the City of New York, in Chicago, in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh; I know the highways and byways of Stockholm, Copenhagen, Hamburg, Lubeck and Lippstadt, as well as many other Old World cities; I have seen the 'seamy' side of life in the large centers of population in both America and Europe—but I can candidly say that East First street, Los Angeles, ranks with the toughest places I have ever seen. Some of the side streets are but little better."

This is the startling arrangement of this city made by a man who has been levelling the past five months to a close

DR. J. V. WALDEN,
Who has been studying the "seamy side of life" in Los Angeles for European journalists.study of sociological conditions here—
Dr. J. V. Walden.

Almost half a year taken from his long and arduous professional life served to bring Dr. Walden many experiences entirely out of the usual in vacation-seeking, and gave him the opportunity of making a close study in lines of civic life to which he has devoted much attention.

Dr. Walden came to Los Angeles in 1902, and since that time has continuously practiced here as a physician of the "New Schools," began an apostle of hygiene and natural methods of treatment in medicine, rather than the use of drugs. Several months ago he sold his establishment with the intention of making a trip to Europe for rest.

Through a combination of favorable circumstances the opportunity for study and close range of the "other side" of Los Angeles was presented to him with the chance of gathering material for a series of papers and magazine articles for several prominent European publications. He therefore decided to end his vacation in a novel manner, right in his own city, and to this end became a deputy sheriff.

"The police protection of Los Angeles is very good," said Dr. Walden yesterday, "but the city is growing so fast that its force ought to be doubled, at least. The men have territory twice as large as they can thoroughly cover, we cannot expect too much of these men."

"There are places in the East First-street district where strangers who may wander into the stairways and by-paths, the haunts that lie in shadows to entice men, are liable to break their necks, or step into danger unaware."

TRICKS OF THE BUMS.

"Many times I strolled through these districts after dark, and have there had strange experiences. One game that is often worked is the coming of two men out of a saloon, and after carefully looking about to see that no officer is in sight, proceeding with a sham fight, so as to enlist on one side or the other the sympathy or interference of the passing stranger.

Their object is to get you mixed up in the trouble, and then to turn on you and demand that you go into the saloon with them and 'set 'em up,' on account of your interference. This means that all their bum friends will crowd around you until you are hemmed in. They all want to work on you more, for night lodgings, a cigarette, an 'chen,' a handful of matches—anything, in fact, that they think you can get; and if you don't give up gracefully, they set in and abuse you. And the bartender, of course, is stone blind. In regard to the saloon, I could have a thorough inspection and vigorous hygiene rules should be adopted for its control."

"I believe there is vast work on sanitary lines to be accomplished in the congested district lying east of Main street and extending down to the Los Angeles River. Especially dangerous are the conditions in the Russian colonies, where sometimes there are a dozen people sleeping in one room. The whole district should have a thorough inspection and vigorous hygiene rules should be adopted for its control."

"My visits included the grading-camps in various parts of the city. I have been in these districts at a late hour, at times when there had been reported there were carousers, but it is said to the credit of these men, I never found more peaceful conditions."

FAULTS IN CHURCHES.

"My visits also included the churches of the city. Los Angeles has some of the finest preachers in the world, I suppose; but my investigations lead me to conclude that many of them, both too much with worldly matters and have a keen admiration for the golden calf. And, as to the church members—I fear me that many go to church merely for their business sake. I noticed that there were especially professional men who want to be acquainted with the members of the congregation for business reasons, and I found out by personal experience that in some of the churches of this city, if these ushers see a fellow with poor clothes on, he will enter the house of worship, and then will remain in an obscure corner. There is plenty of room for reformation in some of the churches of this city, if they really want to follow and seek and lowly Nazarene."

"I had considerable experience in outside work, and I can say that I believe that both Pasadena and Long Beach are as well supplied with 'blind bums' in proportion to population as is
